

Hallowe'en hunter

Too cool for ghoul

Our best find this month is www.buttonbag.co.uk, which has a host of spooky ideas for Hallowe'en, like this adorable peg doll set (below) which costs £6, and lots of ideas for dressing-up costumes including vampires and scary fairies from £10. If you're after a suitably gothic centrepiece, look no further than this chic cake stand (above right) £16.99 from Urchin. This 38.5x11.5cm wooden mini skeleton (left) would make a brilliant party-bag gift, £2.95 from Muji. Crafting this colourful piñata (top) is the perfect Hallowe'en activity for very small children, £9.99 from Woolworths.

SLEEPY BUNNY

This new Kidsleep alarm clock has a clever dual action. At bedtime it's a sweet bunny nightlight and in the morning it will rouse your toddler with the sound of gentle bird song. £35 from John Lewis.

The wow factor

THIS DISTINCTIVE STROLLER set by new design company Wow Oui is one of the funkiest we've seen. Designed by Anna Ryder Richardson, it includes a rain cover, foot cover and well-designed changing bag, and costs £200.

Animal magic

IF YOU WANT to say it with style, pop one of these cute cards in the post. Produced with vegetable inks, the designs cost £2.50 each from Lisa Jones Cards.

Pink and perky

THERE'S MORE TO this little piggy than meets the eye. With a heatable wheat-filled pillow in his belly, your child can give him a cuddle to soothe growing aches and pains. My Warm Friend, £30, Pacific Jewels.
